Job Description

The Health Practitioners Disciplinary Tribunal is established under the Health Practitioners Competence Assurance Act 2003. Its purpose is to adjudicate on charges of professional misconduct laid against health practitioners.

On behalf of the Minister of Health, we are currently seeking applications/nominations for the following positions.

- Dental Technician
- Dental Therapist
- General Surgeon
- Medical Laboratory Scientist
- Optometrist
- Osteopath
- Psychiatrist
- Psychologist
- Psychotherapist
- Paramedic

Please note that any applicants for a health practitioner member position must hold a current practising certificate. If you are in doubt, please contact appointments@health.govt.nz to determine your eligibility.

Applicants from across New Zealand are welcome. The Tribunal will meet as and when required. The time commitment for hearings varies. It may be from one to four days depending on the nature of the case. The majority are heard within one to two days.

To nominate someone, or apply yourself, the following are required:

- a declaration form for the relevant position, completed by you/the nominee (attached)
- a covering letter, detailing your/the nominee's experience that is relevant to the HPDT and why the position is of interest to you/them
- a current CV.
